

Trails and activities in the park

There are 4½ miles of crushed limestone trails on 501 acres. You can hike, bicycle, cross country ski, and snowshoe.

Geo-caching is also a popular activity.

When snow is on the ground, snowshoes are available for public use when not needed for educational programming. Ask a member of the Nature Center Staff for more information.

There is also a connector trail to the Illinois Prairie Path, and Fox River Trail.

Team Building

The team building challenge is tailored to meet a variety of training and motivational needs. Whether coming together to build positive group relationships, to strive for excellence in performance or to introduce new members to an established group dynamic, let us design and tailor a team building program specifically for you.

You will find that our diverse range of team challenges allows participants to support each other and to learn to work together in a fun and active environment.

Benefits include:

- Develop highly effective leaders
- Inspire team members to achieve more
- Strengthen professional and personal relationships within the team
- Heighten self-awareness
- Build confidence
- Develop self-esteem
- Introduce new members

"I have had nothing but rave reviews from everyone involved in the evening. Most of them had never been through this type of team building before and were not knowing what to expect. They came out laughing and truly enjoying their time spent for the evening. Everything was very well laid out and presented"
